

CHAPTER VI

CONCLUSION

Cattle development strategy adopted by Malang Regency in 2011-2015 was already in line with the blueprint of Indonesian Beef self sufficiency. However, the strategy proportion more tend to livestock development. Eventhough this has delivered Malang to reach the high performant achievement, but this supported by poor traditional cattle farming. The strategy adopted before still couldn't develop cattle farming system personally and institutionally. Therefore, it suggested to Livestock and Animal Health Institution to contribute more in developing farmer human resource, personally or institutionally to make cattle farm in Kabupaten Malang become sufficient in supporting Indonesian beef self sufficiency.